About the Conference

The conference is part of a series of international conferences held by Member Organizations of William Glasser International, Inc. around the world. This edition of the conference is set to present the concept of Quality of Life in the field of education and aims to share the best practices in

- Educational Development
- Educational Leadership Performance
- the development of an effective educational environment within learning institutions, centres and schools.

This is carried out by presenting the best frameworks and practices of the Choice Theory as well as choice-based leadership frameworks and their methods of practice within educational bodies and institutions, particularly in the Arab region. This will be accomplished in collaboration with a number of experts within the William Glasser International, Inc. Member Organizations and its branches in Canada, Colombia, Morocco and North Africa.

Participants will be provided with resources, materials, and other supportive tools, which are all offered in both English and Arabic.

During this conference, we will aim to present a serious systematic and pragmatic dialogue to broaden the horizons and provide options in developing the educational leadership within the Arab world. We will also work on exchanging experiences among all our participants. Our goal is to target the central mainstay for the development and improvement of nations: The Educated Person.
